

Ch. 1. Introduction and Foundations

- 1.1. Introduction
- 1.2. Fundamentals of Communication Theory
- 1.3. Characteristics of a Requirements Engineer
- 1.4. Requirement Types
- 1.5. Importance and Categorization of Quality Requirements
- 1.6. Summary

Ch. 2. System and Context Boundaries

- 2.1. System Context
- 2.2. Defining System and Context Boundaries
- 2.3. Documenting the System Context
- 2.4. Summary

Ch. 3. Eliciting Requirements

- 3.1. Requirements Sources
- 3.2. Requirements Categorization According to the Kano Model
- 3.3. Elicitation Techniques
- 3.4. Summary

Ch. 4. Documenting Requirements

- 4.1. Document Design
- 4.2. Types of Documentation
- 4.3. Document Structures
- 4.4. Using Requirements Documents
- 4.5. Quality Criteria for Requirements Documents
- 4.6. Quality Criteria for Requirements
- 4.7. Glossary
- 4.8. Summary

Ch. 5. Documenting Requirements in Natural Language

- 5.1. Effects of Natural Language
- 5.2. Requirement Construction using Templates
- 5.3. Summary

Ch. 6. Model-Based Requirements Documentation

- 6.1. The Term Model
- 6.2. Goal Models
- 6.3. Use Cases
- 6.4. Three Perspectives on the Requirements
- 6.5. Requirements Modeling in the Data Perspective
- 6.6. Requirements Modeling in the Functional Perspective
- 6.7. Requirements Modeling in the Behavioral Perspective
- 6.8. Summary

Ch. 7. Requirements Validation and Negotiation

- 7.1. Fundamentals of Requirements Validation
- 7.2. Fundamentals of Requirements Negotiation
- 7.3. Quality Aspects of Requirements
- 7.4. Principles of Requirements Validation
- 7.5. Requirements Validation Techniques
- 7.6. Requirements Negotiation
- 7.7. Summary

Ch. 8. Requirements Management

- 8.1. Assigning Attributes to Requirements
- 8.2. Views on Requirements
- 8.3. Prioritizing Requirements
- 8.4. Traceability of Requirements
- 8.5. Versioning of Requirements
- 8.6. Management of Requirements Changes
- 8.7. Summary

Ch. 9. Tool Support

- 9.1. General Tool Support
- 9.2. Modeling Tools
- 9.3. Requirements Management Tools
- 9.4. Introducing Tools
- 9.5. Evaluating Tools
- 9.6. Summary
